

Unit – 3 : Session – 6 : SLO – 2 | JDBC Connection and Statement

Worksheet (Answers)

1. Fill: The Connection interface is used to establish a CONNECTION (session) with a database.
2. T/F: Statement executes SQL queries dynamically compiled at runtime. — TRUE
3. MCQ: Method used to execute a SELECT query using Statement → B) executeQuery()
4. Fill: getConnection() of DriverManager returns a CONNECTION object.
5. Find the output: SELECT 'Java' AS lang → A) Java
6. T/F: createStatement() of Connection returns a Statement object. — TRUE
7. MCQ: Method for INSERT/UPDATE/DELETE → C) executeUpdate()
8. Fill: The Statement object must be created from a CONNECTION object before executing queries.
9. Identify the error: new Statement() → B) Statement cannot be instantiated directly
10. Fill: To retrieve data from a ResultSet, we typically use the method GETXXX() (e.g., getString()/getInt() with column name or index).